Eakins named resources critic for Opposition

Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins has been named Liberal critic for natural resources.

The announcement was made last week by Liberal leader Stuart Smith.

Eakins, who had been Liberal tourism critic for the past five years, said in an interview Tuesday that he felt he had given the Liberals some focus in the area of tourism during his time as critic, but that he wanted to move on to a new challenge.

He noted that the new responsibility "certainly ties in with the Victoria-Haliburton area, and especially Haliburton".

"I feel it's going to be an interesting responsibility," he noted, "and I look forward to it".

Eakins said it is still "a little early to say" what particular areas of concern he will be focussing on as natural resources critic, but he said he would begin by reviewing the estimates of the ministry to familiarize himself with some of its proposed programs.

He also noted that he would be questioning the minister on the future of the proposed Pits and Quarries Act, which was dropped last year but which he thinks the government may try to impose through order in council rather than through formal legislation.

Eakins' appointment became effective on the first day of the new session of the legislature.

Window smashed

A large rock smashed two windows at the rear of the Good Medical Clinic on the weekend.

At 10 a.m. on Sunday the broken windows were reported to the OPP. Although the windows were smashed the vandals did not enter the clinic.

The windows were estimated to cost $230.

Within a few weeks this cleared area on Skyline Hill will be filled with a chairlift that will carry riders to the start of a slide ride now under construction. The ride is expected to be a major tourist attraction.

Haliburton's first major tourist attraction

Slide ride under construction

Haliburton's first major tourist attraction is now under construction and is expected to be opened by July 1.

Work began last week on a giant slide ride similar to one which has operated at Collingwood's Blue Mountain for the past four years.

Steve Bowskill, owner of Skyline Rides Ltd., which is building the $600,000 structure, said work is already ahead of schedule for the planned July 1 official opening.

The ride will consist of a banked concrete track a little over a quarter mile in length which will wind down from the top of Skyline Hill. Riders will travel on wheeled carts equipped with brakes that allow speeds to be varied. A double chair lift will carry riders from the base of the ride, next to the community centre parking lot, to the top. Lights will also be installed to permit night riding.

Although the ride is only about two-thirds as long as Collingwood's slide ride, Bowskill says "it will probably be a little more thrilling" because of the course it will follow down the heavily wooded hill.

The ride is designed to appeal to people of all ages, and could draw tens of thousands of patrons over the summer season. Some $50,000 will be spent to advertise the attraction this year, Bowskill said, and the spinoff for local businesses is expected to be substantial.

The Eastern Ontario Development Corporation is committed to providing 55 per cent of the funding required for construction of the ride, and the balance will come from private sources.

Between 25 and 30 people are expected to be employed in full and part time jobs associated with the ride. Support facilities will include new washrooms at the top of the ride to replace those in Skyline Park, a ticket sales booth, and a concession.

Engineering for the structure will be provided by the company which markets the ride technology, but Bowskill said as much local labour as possible will be used during construction.

Bowskill hopes "industry and tourism minister Larry Grossman will be on hand for the official opening ceremonies.

Minden council saves $7000 on insurance

Minden council will save more than $7000 on its insurance costs this year because it has decided to switch companies. At a meeting last Wednesday, council voted unanimously to purchase its insurance from OME Insurance Brokers Limited as a total cost of $9,551.

Council's former insurer, Frank Cowan Ltd., had set 1981 premiums of $16,725 for identical coverage.

Although the savings offered by the new company are substantial, councillor Ed Pergolas termed the move to drop Frank Cowan Ltd. "a most difficult decision to make". He said the company had served the municipality for years, and that there had never been any problem with claims.

"It (the lower rates offered by OME) sounds too much like pie in the sky, and that's what bothers me," Pergolas cautioned. "What happens the following year if you've had a few claims? The rates could go up".

But councillor Lyle McKnight, who along with councillor Larry Cummins, investigated the coverage offered by the two companies, noted that rates can go from year to year no matter what company is involved.

McKnight said OME Insurance is working in conjunction with the Rural Ontario Municipal Association (ROMA) and that rates are based on an overall package involving all participating municipalities. Frank Cowan Ltd., according to McKnight, treats each municipality as a separate entity, and as a result, its rates are higher. It also pays a commission to a local agent to service the account and takes a percentage to meet its own overhead costs, while OME Insurance charges only 10 per cent commission on the total insurance package.

McKnight estimated that up to $5000 of Cowan's price might go to pay commissions. Cummins added that a clause by clause study of the policies offered by both companies showed the coverage offered is identical.

In the end Pergolas agreed to accept the recommendations of McKnight and Cummins, despite noting that "this is such a saving, it sound ridiculous".

The change to OME Insurance was made effective March 13, 1981, the date council's annual coverage with Frank Cowan Insurance expired.

Process expected to take three years

Committee to establish hospital transfer plans

A steering committee will be formed within the next few weeks to study the proposed transfer of control of the Red Cross Hospitals in Haliburton and Minden back to the communities.

Announcement that the committee would be formed came at a public meeting last Wednesday called by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Council.

Health council chairman Austin Birch said a sub-committee of the council has been examining 'Ontario Red Cross' plans to relinquish control of the hospitals, and has "now reached the stage where we want to form a steering committee," to work out details of the transfer.

The committee's recommendations will be reviewed by the health council, which will then submit a detailed transfer proposal to the Ministry of Health for consideration. The process could take up to three years, Birch told close to 150 people who turned up for the meeting.

Although the steering committee will be asked to recommend how the hospitals will be administered, it is clear that separate boards and administrators will not be considered. But Birch stressed that both hospitals will be retained in their present forms when the transfer takes place.

John Ackland, executive director of Red Cross Hospitals said six of the organization's ten outpost hospitals have already been turned back to the communities in which they are located, and that in all cases they have been "twinned" with a large hospital in the nearest city, and administered by that hospital's board. He noted that twinning can improve the quality of health care by making the expertise of doctors and technicians in the larger hospital available to the hospital in the smaller community.

Ackland also tried to quiet fears that the Red Cross would hand over the hospitals to local control before the community was prepared to assume the responsibility. He admitted that the Red Cross would like to see the process of transfer proceed "as quickly as possible, but only when we're sure that there is a viable working administration in place and that the transition takes place smoothly."

Birch urged those at the meeting to put aside any differences which may appear to exist between Haliburton and Minden and to think about the kind of health care that is needed for the future. He said the formation of a steering committee would allow local people to have input into the kind of medical care that will be available.

"We want the decisions made locally," he said, "and I think that decisions made locally will be the right kind of decisions".

The steering committee will have 11 members; three from the District Health Council, one medical person from Haliburton and one from Minden, one municipal official from each community, one citizen from Haliburton, one from Minden and two from other areas of the county.

Minden water rate by-law change to eliminate 'units'

Anson, Hinton and Minden council intends to revamp its water rate by-law to discontinue the controversial system of charges based on 'units' of consumption. Instead, it will establish flat rates for various types of businesses based on average consumption figures for similar businesses in other communities.

Councillor Ed Pergolas, who recently proposed changes in rates that led to complaints from a number of businesses and individuals in the village, said the Water Works Digest, which lists consumption and cost figures for municipal water systems throughout the province, would be used to help set realistic rates.

Pergolas noted that charges for water in Minden are currently much less than in other communities of similar size. As an example, he cited Hyland Crest senior citizens home, which pays $2,800 a year for water. The home is one of the few buildings in Minden which has a water meter, and readings indicate that it uses approximately 1.75 million gallons a year. In the town of Iriquois, Pergolas said, the cost of that water would be $5000, $2,200 more than the home is charged under council's present rates.

While the recent rate increases imposed by council have been accepted without complaint by the majority of users in Minden, several residents and merchants have voiced objections to the changes. None have gone as far as the curling club executive, however, which has said that it will not pay the club's

The Haliburton women's softball team got more than they bargained for Saturday at a car wash they held to raise funds for the upcoming season. They had no trouble handling the cars that turned up, but Kim Roberts and Wanda Scott had their work cut out for them when the owner of a huge tandem dump truck reached the head of the line.

Safety lanes scheduled for next week

Ministry of Transportation and Communications employees are operating vehicle safety lanes again this spring and the OPP are issuing vehicle inspection forms throughout the county.

The safety lanes, set up to assess the roadworthiness of vehicles, will be open at the Haliburton MTC Yard on Highway 121 next Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and Minden MTC Yard on Highway 35 next Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Neither of the lanes operate from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

While owners summoned to bring their vehicles to the safety lanes must either have their vehicles inspected or turn in the licence plates, owners not summoned to the lanes can have their vehicles checked upon request.

The OPP have been issuing inspection forms for the past two months.

Some cottagers on Horseshoe Lake claim silt from this swamp is ruining their beachfront, and they want Minden council to open up a causeway which they say is responsible for the silting problems. Council has made no decision on whether to reject the request or comply with it.

Council promises to consult with MTC officials again

Cottagers want action on causeway

Denying that it is ignoring the pleas of some Horseshoe Lake cottage owners, Anson, Hinton and Minden council has promised it will once again discuss problems surrounding the Shuyler's Island causeway with the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Deputy reeve Doug Pritchard told a delegation of cottagers at a meeting last Wednesday that council still does not know whether or not the causeway should be opened up with a bridge or large culverts, despite reports from the Ministry of the Environment, the Ministry of Natural Resources, Trent Severn waterway officials, and an independent consulting firm hired by the cottage association.

Arguments over whether or not the causeway is restricting water flow in the lake and contributing to a silting problem in front of some island and shore properties date back to 1975, cottager Orville Eagle told council. In that year the environment ministry confirmed that the causeway is restricting water flow, Eagle said. In July 1976, the MNR concurred with the MOE's findings, and in November, 1976 representations of the two agencies, along with an MTC official, council representatives and cottagers met at the site and agreed the problem should be investigated further, Eagle said.

In 1977, the MOE completed a report on water flows and the silting problem, "but nothing was ever done" Eagle told council. A study completed by Trent Severn waterway officials also indicated that water flow around the island is restricted by the causeway, Eagle noted.

Decision needed

Eagle and other cottagers claim silt from a swampy section of the lake near the causeway is being carried around the head of Shuyler's Island because the causeway allows water to flow only one way, and they say the silt is ruining what were formerly sandy waterfronts.

Councillor Lyle McKnight

noted that the MTC does not appear to agree with the cottagers' claims however, and said council was told subsidies would not be available for changes to the causeway.

But Eagle cited a 1978 letter from the deputy minister of transportation and communications, which said normal subsidy considerations would apply if the municipality decided repairs to the causeway were necessary.

In the end council promised not to close the door on the matter, and will seek confirmation from MTC officials about possible subsidies which may be available for the installation of a bridge or culverts to allow waterflow through the causeway.

water bill until it carries out a study of consumption at the building.

Pergolas defended the club's increase, however, claiming the $581, six month bill is lower than rates paid by clubs in other communities.

If the club continues to protest its bill, a water meter may be considered, but Pergolas said the result might be higher rather than lower bills.

"I think they'd be crazy to go on meters," he said. "If they want meters, they're going to pay more."

A second solution to the club's concerns might be to impose a flat charge for ice making, and individual charges for each tap, shower, basin and toilet, a practice which is followed in some communities, Pergolas said.

Changes to the by-law are expected to be made within the next few weeks.

Although all schools are planning special activities for their students, some are inviting parents and other local residents to view the school system.

At Archie Stouffer Public School in Minden, area residents are invited to tour the school on Tuesday morning or Thursday afternoon. Vice-principal McKay Brydon emphasized it is a community school and parents and friends should "feel free" to wander through the school during those times.

At Victoria Street School in Haliburton Village, area senior citizens will be visiting one day to tell the students about their days at school many years ago. Then the students will be having a tea for their special guests. One afternoon will be set aside for parents to visit the school although a date has not been scheduled yet.

Friday will mark a special day for many youngsters as they get ready to sign up for kindergarten registration for the 1981-82 school year.

At Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School, students will make two special presentations of the Wizard of Id. The May 7 showing will be open for parents and relatives alike. On Friday, the North Dundas school band will be performing at 2:15 to wind down the school's activities for the week. Parents are also invited to tour the school's facilities.

Happy Gang's van fund grows

The Happy Gang keeps getting happier as its fund for a van equipped with a wheel chair lift to transport area seniors to their desired destinations keeps growing.

On Saturday night the Happy Gang hosted a dance at the West Guilford community centre in hopes of boosting their fund even closer to its goal.

After the efforts on the weekend, the bank account is now sitting at $2045 and now other fund-raising events are being planned.

When the van is purchased it will be available to all area seniors to use on any type of outing whether it be for a trip to the local villages or to larger centres.

With the Municipality of Dysart et al offering to pay a portion of the maintenance charges and extendicare Ltd. covering the vehicle with an insurance policy, the cost of up-keep on the van will be kept at a minimum.

Track proposed for Minden, council to seek more input

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has deferred a decision on a proposed multi-purpose race track until the idea can be discussed with the community's agricultural society and the residents of Prentice Street.

Tom Prentice, a Minden resident, estimated the track could be built for $7,500, and said it could pay for itself in a few years if usage fees were charged.

Prentice proposed that the track could be used for horse racing in conjunction with the Minden fair, and said that at other times of the year, it might be used by cars, motorcycles and snowmobiles.

But the idea of horse racing on the track was all but rejected by agricultural society president Gerry Pillsworth, who said the proliferation of top quality race tracks in many parts of Ontario has eliminated horse racing in small towns. He also noted that the track is not needed for the fair, but said if it is built, it "would certainly not interfere with us in any way, shape or form".

Prentice proposed that a track 9/10ths of a kilometer in circumference could be built in the open area to the north of the old curling club. If township machinery were used to scrape away the top soil for a 40 foot surface, lay down approximately 1000 yards of clay and cover the track with crushed stone, the track could be built for an estimated $7,500, Prentice told council.

The cost would not include fencing or a grandstand, he said.

Councillor Ed Pergolas said he was concerned that property owners in the area might object to the track, but Prentice said a muffler rule could be enforced, and that sound deadening fencing could be installed if necessary.

The agricultural society is expected to consider the proposal at a future meeting, and residents of Prentice Street will also be given a chance to comment on the idea before any further steps are taken.

HHSES student wins first in dental poster contest

Lucy Postlethwaite, a grade six student at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School, was awarded first prize in the grade six to eight category of the Victoria-Haliburton Dental Poster Art Contest last week.

The contest, run in conjunction with Dental Health Week, invited students from both counties to participate by drawing a poster promoting dental care.

Winning posters were displayed in the Zeller's County Fair Plaza in Lindsay last Friday and Saturday. Lucy received a cash prize of $15 for her efforts.

Two other students from HHSES entered the competion - Mary Ellen Coghlan and Mike Lang tied for first place in the HHSES grade three to five competition.

House destroyed

a.m. chief Floyd Tighe said Monday.

When the firemen arrived, flames were leaping out of the house and although they managed to get the fire under control the house was completely destroyed by smoke and water damage.

Rowbottom, an employee at Martin's Lumber Mill in Harcourt, was at work when the fire broke out, but a friend was staying at the house at the time.

The friend apparently stoked up the fire and fell asleep before closing down the drafts. He was awakened later by the intense heat in the house and narrowly escaped, Tighe said.

"He was lucky to get out," the chief commented.

The stove was found in the rubble with its drafts wide open.

A neighbour noticed the single storey frame house was on fire and notified the department.

Kim Roberts, left and Debbie O'Connor put their heart into flagging down passing motorists for a car wash to raise funds for the Haliburton women's softball team Saturday.

MINISTRY SURVEYS LANDOWNERS

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is undertaking a mail survey of rural, private landowners in the whole province. Questions pertaining to many aspects of the Ministry's mandate in natural resources management, which covers wildlife, fisheries, minerals, forests, recreation, and land use in general, are included in the survey. Other questions deal with the attitudes and motivations behind the landowner's varied land use practices with particular emphasis on woodlands.

The survey includes five per cent of the landowners in southern Ontario who have a minimum of 50 acres and ten per cent of the landowners in northern Ontario with the same minimal acreage qualification. There are some 23.5 million acres of private land in southern Ontario which comprises about 13 per cent of the province's total land area. While the survey covers less than 10 per cent of Ontario total land area, 80 per cent of the privately-owned land in the province is located in southern Ontario. However, approximately 44 per cent of private forest land is located in the north's 20 per cent of the province's private land.

The survey is attempting to gather information about several of the landowner's social and economic characteristics and learn of his attitudes toward land and woodland management. The results of the survey will provide private landowners information on a uniform basis which will be beneficial to the Ministry. The results will be used in establishing improved government services and may lead to new conservation and land management programs helpful to the owner.

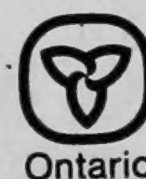

The focus of the survey is the use being made of existing forestry programs on private land in Ontario. This survey is a small part of a comprehensive review of the Ministry's private land forestry program. It will contribute substantially to a green paper on the subject to be presented by the Government of Ontario for discussion by the public next year.

A previous survey was conducted in 1969 by the former Department of Lands and Forests. This earlier survey was limited to southern Ontario, and this year's results will be compared with those of the 1969 survey for changes in landownership and their characteristics.

For the Ministry of Natural Resources, the survey will provide a measure of the reforestation potential, timber availability for industrial development from private land, and the degree of landowner familiarity with various government services and programs. One of these is The Woodlands Improvement Act assistance program which was initiated in 1966.

The 12,400 landowners who are receiving the mail questionnaire during April and May, are encouraged to answer it completely and return it to the Ministry so that the results will be statistically significant.

Questions related to completion of this questionnaire should be directed to the District Manager, Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario, K0M 2K0. Telephone (705) 286-1521.

Highway 503 project begins

The highway reconstruction project between Gooderham and Furnace Falls which began last fall is now in full swing with good spring weather for the crews to work in, according to the project manager Bill Howe of the Bancroft District of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

The rebuilding contract for Highway 503 was awarded to Allan G. Cook of Barrie, Howe said.

Rock cuts to be widened, a granular base will be spread on the highway bed and new hot mix pavement will complete the job, Howe said.

The roadway will also be improved with new culverts to provide better drainage and new guide rails, he noted.

The highway does not need to be realigned however because it is "quite satisfactory" now, Howe added.

The $1.5 million construction project is expected to be completed by mid-August.

A,H&M holds April council meeting

At its most recent meeting, Anson, Hindon and Minden council considered the following:

Tom Prentice was present to discuss the possibility of a multi-purpose race track in the fair grounds. He advised the approximate cost would be $7,500 and suggested that a fee could be charged to each organization holding an event on the track to offset future maintenance costs. Council deferred decision on the matter pending review by the Agricultural Society and the residents on Prentice Street.

The tender of Doug Tedford Contracting to do the work at the Minden Library Cultural Centre in the amount of $1,700 was accepted. The library room is to be completed by May 8 and an extension will be allowed on the remainder of the building. Completion date is to be May 29, 1981.

Dick Kirkwood attended council regarding the sewer invoice for Laurdie Cabins. He advised that a separate lateral had not been installed for the cabins and it was not therefore possible to connect them to the sewers. Council agreed to waive the "in-lieu of connection" charge in this particular matter until such time as the cabins are connected.

A capital idea

The announcement that Haliburton Village is about to get a major tourist attraction costing more than half a million dollars should come as welcome news to local residents, and especially to local merchants. A sky slide similar to one which has proved a boon to Collingwood's summer business is now under construction, and opening day is slated for July 1. The ride could draw tens of thousands of people to the village over its five or six months of operation, bringing substantial new revenue to the community.

If local merchants are to reap maximum benefits from the slide ride, however, they will have to put some creative effort into the task of inducing people to linger after they have taken a ride or two. And to do that, they will have to work together. Clearly the need for a viable merchant's association has never been greater.

The presence of the slide ride will provide a core around which cooperative promotional and merchandising programs can be run. It will give people who may never have visited Haliburton a reason to come to the community. The extensive advertising campaign that will be mounted to promote the ride will make the Highlands better known. In short, the slide ride has the potential to significantly improve the tourism outlook locally and with it, the retail sector of the community's economy.

How much effect it has will depend largely on the extent to which local merchants, restaurant owners and service providers are willing to work the ride's presence to their advantage.

Strong voices

People who attended a meeting on the transfer of the Red Cross Hospitals to community control last week had reason to feel disappointed with the proceedings. Most went expecting to hear details about how the transfer will be carried out, or concrete suggestions about the options that exist. Instead, they heard that a sub committee of the district health council has taken almost two years to decide that a steering committee should be formed to decide what should be done.

But if progress toward the transfer seemed frustratingly absent, it was at least made clear that local people will have substantial input into the steering committee, and thus will have a strong voice in recommending what should or should not be done. The fact that the district health council will have an opportunity to review the committee's suggestions and make changes before the transfer proposal is submitted to the Ministry of Health for approval made some of those who attended the meeting uneasy. But the arrangement need not be viewed as overly restrictive. If local people speak out loudly enough about what they want done with their hospitals, the council, and the Ministry, will have to listen.

Yes or no

For more than six years, a number of cottagers on Shuyler's Island and the adjacent shoreline of Horseshoe Lake have been trying to get action on silting problems they feel is being aggravated by a causeway that leads to the island. And for more than six years, the cottagers have been getting conflicting reports from government agencies and independent engineers about whether or not their complaints are legitimate. The latest chapter in this ongoing saga of bureaucratic confusion was written last Wednesday, when a delegation of cottagers again asked Anson, Hindon and Minden council to back their complaints with action.

The cottagers claim that when repairs to the causeway were carried out and a bridge removed, water flow was stopped at one end of the island, allowing silt from a swampy area to be deposited along an occupied section of shoreline as water flows out of the lake. The claim is contentious. But it deserves either to be supported or rejected. And so far, council has been unable or unwilling to do either.

If the silting is in fact aggravated by the causeway, council has a responsibility to see that waterflows are restored. The causeway will not have to be removed, but a bridge or large culverts may have to be installed. That would involve some disruption for cottagers on the island, but in all likelihood it would not result in any extended denial of access. If, on the other hand, it can be demonstrated that the silting is, as some people suspect, a natural phenomenon that is not made worse by the causeway, then council should tell the cottagers that no action will be taken.

Either way, council will be carrying out a responsibility it has so far been avoiding.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I have attended two meetings dealing with the possible purchase of a van which will hold several wheel chairs and enable many home-bound disabled people to be taken for a drive, out to dinner, or a social function, etc. You may remember that Ann Barker from Stanhope gave the proceeds of a New Years' Eve dance ($700.) to the Happy Gang at Extencicare to begin the fund for the van. After last Saturday evening's dance at West Guilford Community Hall this fund is up to $2,045.00.

Unfortunately there seems to be some misunderstanding about who will own and operate this van. In order to qualify for a grant from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications the van must be purchased through a municipality. Dysart Council has agreed to do this and will provide certain funds towards the maintenance. Extencicare Ltd. have agreed to insure the vehicle. This van will definitely assist residents in Extencicare, approximately twenty-five are confined to wheel chairs, - but it will also be for the use of residents who live in their own homes. Persons owning a Class F driver's licence may operate the vehicle.

Now you can see that this is a community venture and a very worthwhile one - especially during the year of the disabled. Contributions are needed and all groups and individuals are invited to make their donations to The Happy Gang, c/o Extencicare Ltd., Haliburton. Receipts for income tax purposes will be issued. Let's show our disabled friends that we care!

Yours truly,
Marie Wallace,
Eagle Lake, Ontario

To the Editor:

In reply to the ice cream for the senior citizens in your paper (Extencicare news, April 22):

With a lot of rumours going around, none of the members knew who the person was, not even my wife Ruth. In many organizations there are always some rumours floating around that are a detriment to the members or the organization itself. I tried a little reverse psychology, and it appears it worked. The members enjoyed the ice cream, and I, instigator, enjoyed it too. But a clue was in the congratulations card with the decal which read Haliburton is for Lovers. The Lovers were the members, the congratulations were for an event that took place on April 2: the birth of the constitution and by-laws for the Haliburton Senior Citizen Club.

I want to apologize to all, especially to Ruth, for my inconvenience. I would like to thank Marylou's Snack Bar and Don Lloyd in the arena for their support.

Haliburton, Ont.

To the Editor:

The April 30 deadline for filing 1980 T1 individual income tax returns is just a few days away. Most taxpayers will file by the due date, however, a certain number always procrastinate or succumb to the temptation of not paying their fair share of taxes by filing late, or "forgetting" to file altogether.

The department has been stepping up its efforts to identify and deal with the delinquent taxpayer. Computer information programs are being used extensively and special "Identification and Compliance Units" have been formed in each office to employ various methods to enforce filing requirements.

Offenders face prosecution in Criminal Court with fines ranging from $200 to $10,000 and six months in jail. Penalties of 50% of tax owing are being applied by the department if there is wilful evasion of payment of taxes by not filing. This penalty is in addition to the mandatory 5% late filing penalty and the current 12% interest charges. Furthermore, an amendment to the tax laws will come into force next year, resulting in an additional penalty of 1% of the unpaid tax for each month the return is overdue, up to a 12% maximum.

While the department prefers to obtain compliance without extensive punitive action, it is still necessary in many cases. This past year, prosecution action in the courts resulted in 53 convictions and $10,400 in fines from charges laid by the Belleville Office (our territory includes Peterborough, Lindsay, Bancroft, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Trenton and Prince Edward County). Nationally 4,613 taxpayers were convicted over the same twelve months. Applications of the 50% penalty totalled over $30,000 locally and $2,356,042 in such penalties were levied across Canada during a recent twelve month period.

Yours sincerely,
D. M. Wilson,
Public Relations Officer

HIGH WAGES

High wages paid to summer students by government agencies place a burden on us all.

Private enterprise cannot begin to match salaries, such as the Conservatin Authority and Ministry of Natural Resources are offering prospective summer students. In fact, in private industry, many full time employees, who have worked for a number of years are still not making as much as some of the students will be making.

Not only does this make it difficult for the rest of us to hire top students this summer, it also places unrealistic salary expectations in the minds of these students who will one day be looking for full time jobs in the private sector.

Feir Play

Many local business establishments at this time of the year find themselves in what you might term, a financial bind. It was just last week that a business person was telling me that it was a long cold and hard winter. A great many people will remark, "Well we have to expect this because you know it's that time of the year". I ask you why should we have to accept this fact? I think to be really truthful about this matter, what is happening at the present time is that many business people try to make their money in two or three months of the year, and try to float their business for the remainder of the nine months on this money. Many will find that this is an impossibility and if we carry on like this we will always find ourselves in this kind of a bind. At the present time if we are faced with a rainy or cold summer it could be curtains for many. This is the penalty we have to pay for putting all our eggs in one basket. This is the very reason why meetings have been held and this is the reason that many people have been worried about the future of this county and just what can be done in the line of getting something going to spruce up the local economy, on what we might call the low months of the year. We must be aware of the fact that we must have something else going for us that will give those who live in this county a better standard of living.

Music lovers will be in for a real treat on May 11 when The Salvation Army Peterborough Temple Band will be making an appearance at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Auditorium.

A large crowd was in attendance on Saturday night last at the West Guilford Community Centre to dance the evening away and to raise money for a good cause. On this occasion the Happy Gang from Extencicare/Haliburton held a send-off dance to raise money for the Community Wheel Chair Van Fund. Music was supplied by the Dew Berry Band.

In my opinion, one of the most important organizations in Haliburton County is the Big Brothers Association. We should be all putting it on the top of our list with things that we should be helping with. Some boys are without fathers and this is where this organization steps in to help. The Big Brothers Association of Haliburton County will be holding an information night on Thursday, May 7 at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School starting at 8 p.m. This will be your opportunity to find out more about this worthwhile community service group. Big Brothers are needed now.

Charlie Tyler of Haliburton was a recent speaker at one of the Minden Rotary Club's meetings. He gave a very interesting talk on the state of the maple syrup industry here in Haliburton County and gave a fairly detailed report on just how much work goes into making a gallon of maple syrup. The number of questions that were fielded by Mr. Tyler during the question and answer period proved just how interested the members were on this subject. Practically every person at the meeting had a question.

It's the end of an era. It was just last week that one of Haliburton's main street landmarks bit the dust. Buck Baker has retired from the barber business and his barber shop which has been standing on the same location for years, next to the Bank of Montreal has been torn down by its new owner, John Peel.

The 4 C's, our local Community Christian Concern Centre, which is located on Highland Street, just east of the Liquor Control Board store in Haliburton, is now staffed during the day and is ready to respond to the needs of the community. Each morning (Sunday excepted) a local minister is available for counselling from 9 a.m. until noon, and appointments are not necessary. It has also come to my attention that during the afternoons (Monday to Friday) a friendly person will be on duty to make a weary shopper, or someone with a problem, a cup of tea or coffee. Master's Book Store is located in the centre and has an interesting array of books, cards, etc. You are invited to come in and browse around. The centre is here to serve you and the staff look forward to your visit.

Cheri Bruce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bruce of Haliburton Lake, who is the Rotary Club of Haliburton's out-going exchange student, is headed for Brazil and will be staying with many of the families that Mike Scheffee stayed with when he visited that country as an exchange student. Alex Lopex, a former exchange student from Argentina is returning to Haliburton to work for Art Ward this summer.

Now that the Stanley Cup play-offs are in full swing it reminded me of this small article that appeared in the Thursday Post recently. Did you know that it was exactly 25 years ago last week that the Minden Monarchs entered the Ontario Intermediate "C" finals against Beeton after defeating Napanee 9 - 4 to take the fifth and deciding game and the semi-finals 3 - 2.

The annual Red Shile Appeal is now underway and the objective for Haliburton County has been set at $5,100. Please be generous when a canvasser calls. This coming Monday night, May 4 will be Blitz Night in Haliburton. You may also send your donations to Salvation Arm Lieut. Ron Mailman, Box 103, Haliburton, or Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Haliburton.

Dale Robinson, chairman of Haliburton Rotary Club's annual Snowarama said last week that the fund received a boost to the tune of $605 when a donation was received in memory of Mr. Basil E. Cowan who rode for many years in this event.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Mrs. J. B. Sedgwick of R.R. 1, Minden, for giving us permission to use this most interesting photo showing the teacher and students of S.S. There are three ways of getting to Moosonee. You can fly, which is expensive. You can walk, which is lengthy, or you can take the train, which is something else. I took the train because I was a bit broke after a major decorating job, because my gout was acting up and I couldn't have made it walking in two years, and because I wanted the experience.

It was an experience I will never forget. Or repeat. When I think that my daughter made the same trip two years ago, with two small boys, my heart bleeds for her. It's almost twenty-four hours from Toronto, and she refused to get sleeping berths, against my advice.

But she's a very adaptable, strong-hearted and generally clear-headed young woman, and has made not only a go of it, but a success of coping with a frontier town, if there's such a thing left in Canada.

At Cochrane, you change from a fast trans-Canada train to the self-styled Polar Bear Express, somewhat of a misnomer, as it has nothing to do, even peripherally, with polar bears, and is the exact opposite of an express. It stops whenever it feels like it, backs up for a while, sits for a while, then jogs off again.

Sitting in a coach surrounded by fat, middle-aged Indian ladies who chuckled and gossiped in Cree, I felt much like a Russian aristocrat who had been banished to Siberia for supposedly plotting against the Czar. The train rolled on hour after hour through the taiga, skinny evergreens too useless even for pulpwood, burnt-out patches every so often, snow out both windows, and no sign of human life. All we needed was a samovar at the end of the coach, and the Siberian image would have been complete.

But a warm welcome, with some hugs and kisses from grandbys dispelled the first impressions.

There seems little real reason for Moosonee to exist, except that it is the end of steel. Yet it's a thriving little town, with all the requisites: liquor store, post office, police station, churches, The Bay store, with a monopoly on most food and clothing, a meat market, two hardware stores, one garage, a Mac's Milk sort of place, a Chinese restaurant, magnificent schools, a really splendid, small art gallery featuring the works of Indian artists, and three taxis.

What more could a man want? Well, maybe a pool-room. Or a massage parlor. Or a movie house. But these are sybaritic southern frills. No violent movie could take the place of a dash across the night Moose River just before break-up, with the water flying as though you were a ship in a stiff gale.

It's an odd community, geographically. It looks as though God or somebody had flown over the place, dumped out a few handfuls of buildings, and let them fall where they might. I can find my way around in most major cities, but I was constantly getting lost in Moosonee.

Something else that made me wonder was what people did for a living. There is no industry, yet everybody seems to have money. Nobody looks even vaguely hungry. Perhaps it's a matter of taking in each other's washing.

But I have a suspicion that if all the government money, railway, liquor store, schools, police, welfare, old age pensions, baby bonuses and so on were suddenly withdrawn, the place would collapse, and be remembered as a sort of rough-hewn Camelot.

There is, of course, the tourist industry, but that's pretty negligible except for a couple of months in summer, and during goose-hunting season.

On the other hand, the government was left with a pretty sizable investment, and has used it with some common-sense. The town used to be an army base, and many of the buildings have been put to use as schools, housing, administrative offices. Better than leaving them to rot.

For example, the houses on the base are now rented to teachers and other officials. The barracks are used to house the Indian kids from Moose Factory, across the river, in spring and fall, when it's unsafe to cross the river. The recreation building is used for school-rooms. It still has a bowling alley. There is a curling rink, where kids also learn to skate. At the school there is a fine cafeteria, with food that would make the habitués of our school cafeteria drool.

But this is beginning to sound like a travelogue, not my intention. I had a grand visit with my only daughter, without the constant interruptions of her mother.

I played chess with my grandson, 7, and barely escaped with my hide. Twice he forced me to stalemate, instead of checkmate, a humiliating experience. And I played without mercy, regardless of age.

Most days I picked up the other little guy 5, at his daycare, and he gave me directions for home when I got lost.

I got through six novels in six days, and didn't mark a single exam paper. That's what I call a holiday.

We had music, and read poetry, and played dominoes and ate like kings. I ripped off three graceful Moosonee geese, hand-crafted by the natives. And I came home with a better sunburn than confreres who's gone south for their holiday.

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott, MP

Last Tuesday, April 14, the House of Commons passed Bill C-42, a bill designed to convert the Post Office department into a Crown corporation.

The bill now goes to the Senate, and it is expected that the new corporation could become operational by next September.

This marks the second major change in the Post Office that I have witnessed since I came to Parliament in 1965.

First I saw the traditional Crown and Royal Mail replaced by the name Canada Post/Postes Canada, and with the passage of Bill C-42 I see the Post Office eliminated as a senior government department and added to the almost endless list of Crown corporations.

During those years I have also witnessed a steady decline in the quality of mail service, an increase in postal rates, and a department wracked by strikes and internal strife unprecedented in our government.

It is hoped by all of us in the House, and indeed all Canadians, that this latest change will signal a beginning of better relations between the government and the Post Office employees, and also an improvement in the quality of mail service.

Simply changing the name of the Post Office will not bring with it a magic solution to the troubles in the department, but we in the Conservative Opposition supported the bill because we believe that it will be worth the risk to restore credibility and efficiency in our postal service.

The person selected by the government to head up the new corporation has impressive credentials. He is Michael Warren, a 43-year-old career public servant who has been described by associates as a "canny operator".

Warren set up the Ministry of the Solicitor General and the Ministry of Housing in the Ontario government, and is considered an exceptional manager and administrator.

Warren plans "very early in the game" to try to resolve the problems represented by 28 separate unions bargaining for 65,000 postal employees; poor morale; a bad corporate image, and other problems that he sees as the 'human side' of the Post Office situation.

Both the government and the unions have said that they favour the new Crown corporation structure for the Post Office. It only remains to be seen if they will now work together to give us the kind of postal service that we have a right to expect.

Madawaska Park planned

Madawaska Waterway Provincial Park will be established as the first waterway provincial park in southern Ontario, Ontario's Minister of Natural Resources James Auld announced recently.

Located along a 46 km (28.5 mi.) stretch between McPhee Bay and the Village of Griffith, this section of the Madawaska has long been recognized by many as the most significant recreational river resource in southern Ontario.

Griffith is south of Eganville and Barry's Bay, at the intersection of the Madawaska River and Highway 41.

The Canadian Olympic team does some of its training in the park.

"The park will ensure that this recreational resource will be available for continual use by day and overnight canoe trippers, fishermen and a growing number of white-water canoeists and kayakers," Auld said.

The lower 22 km (13.6 mi.) of the park in particular has superb whitewater canoeing, offering a spectacular series of falls, shoots and extensive rapids.

The new park also has some significant natural features, including orchid species approaching the northern limits of their range, and cross sections of a diverse geologic landscape, which are of interest to naturalists, educational groups and other river travellers.

The Madawaska Waterway Provincial Park will have minimal facility development in order to protect the natural character of the river.

Access will be provided at major points and two small campgrounds are anticipated to provide for overnight visitors. These campgrounds may be developed and operated by the private sector. Other services and facilities will be provided by surrounding communities.

It is difficult for employers to explain to their best employee that he or she is not worth as much to them as a student checking cars at a park gate. It is even harder for that employee to understand why her hard earned dollars, in the form of taxes are going to pay those high student wages.

Haliburton County ladies softball season begins

The Haliburton County ladies' softball league has dropped down to seven teams this year, from last year's high of nine contending teams.

A league meeting, called for last week, reiterated many of the group's rules and laid out plans for the upcoming season, Sheila Elston, league president said Monday.

This year's rules will be the same as last year with the teams playing a double schedule to vie for play-off positions.

As well, the league will be sponsoring an umpire's clinic on May 9 in hopes of getting more umpires involved in the game.

"We're trying to get more umpires interested this year," Elston said.

Along with the clinic, a meeting will be held on May 28 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the constitution and rule changes with prospective umpires, Elston said.

Teams playing in the league this year are Haliburton, Minden Seniors, Minden Juniors, Carnarvon, Gooderham, Wilberforce and West Guilford. The schedule will be available soon, Elston said.

Children's softball set for summer

- Submitted -

A group which met April 23 to discuss the possibility of organizing softball for the youth of the Haliburton area unanimously decided that such a program is worthwhile and needed to provide local children with recreational activity.

All the equipment and sweaters from last year have not yet been returned. Anyone who has equipment or sweaters is asked to hand them in to Walton Prime at the Bank of Commerce or bring them to the meeting planned for this Thursday, April 30 at 7:30 at the Senior Elementary School.

A registration fee of $2 per child will be charged to cover the cost of outstanding bills and the purchase of new equipment for the coming year, the group decided.

The program will be set up with boys and girls playing in the following age categories: Tikes (4, 5 and 6 years old) playing T-ball, Novices (7 and 8 years old), Atoms (9 and 10 years old), Pee Wees (11 and 12 years old), Bantams (13 and 14 years old), and Midgets (15 and 16 years old). All ages are as of January 1, 1981.

AQUAROBIC NEWS

A local businessman, Adrian Whitfield, of Whitfield Plumbing and Heating, informs this paper that his company has been appointed as an authorized service and installing dealer for Aquarobic Ltd., a new Canadian company formed last year after purchasing the inventory, patents and trade marks from the Aquarobic division of Waltec Inc. Whitfield Plumbing and Heating continues to offer service and parts to all those who purchased a system from the former company and also offers for sale from Aquarobic Ltd., both the cottage/-residential model and the new commercial models. These new commercial systems will treat all the sewage from such applications as motels, hotels, trailer parks, camps, plazas as well as restaurants and taverns. Adrian Whitfield tells us that the Aquarobic process utilizes a unique air injection system to stimulate nature's bacteria to rapidly biologically reduce the pollutants to basically odourless carbon dioxide gas and clear treated waste water. Since there are few pollutants left only a small filter bed or reduced size tile field is needed to infiltrate the restored liquid into the soil. Whitfield Plumbing expects more use to be made of this environmentally sound method of sewage treatment in the future as there is a strong desire to create jobs in our rural areas and since this system is a relatively inexpensive way to service properties compared to the millions of dollars required for municipal sewers and treatment plants. Aquarobic's systems have been tested and proven reliable, they are in use in Canada and the United States. Here in our area they are expected for use by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment and local Health Unit.

Fine motor skills examined

Newborn is uncoordinated

by Catherine Miller

Whenever we dial a number on the telephone, turn on a light switch, brush our teeth, or write a letter, we are using a vital and uniquely human skill - the ability to use tools. To dial a phone number of switch on a light, we would use our principal tools - our hands. To carry out the act of brushing or writing we would hold an object, in these examples a toothbrush or pen, to expand the tool function of our hands. By manipulating objects or "tools" we are able to shape the environment we live in according to our needs and desires.

When babies begin to wave their arms and swipe at objects they can see, they are learning that objects can be used to make things happen. "When I touch the mobile with my hand I can see it move and hear music!" Eventually this waving and hitting motion develops into the mature skills that allow us to manipulate very small and very complex objects as we carry out our daily routine. We are speaking of the development of fine motor skills - those actual acts of manipulation involving the coordination of the eyes and hands.

In the newborn manipulative skills are wholly uncoordinated. For the first six weeks of life a baby's hands are usually curled up in little fists. While she will tightly grasp any object placed in the palm of her hand, she has no control over this grasping, it is one of the reflexes she is born with. Similarly, a newborn will open her eyes wide and stare at just about any object you place in front of her eyes, but she needs to practice moving her eye muscles together slowly in order to follow a slowly moving object. At this point in time the eyes and hands are not yet working together.

In the first six months of life, however, a dramatic improvement takes place in the baby's ability to coordinate what the eyes see with what the hands do. Until this point, mouthing (moving the tongue and lips over objects) has been used to gather information about the infant's world. It is the desire to mouth objects that encourages the baby to reach for and voluntarily grasp articles that are within her view.

One's own hands and feet are usually first and favourite playthings. The random movements of baby's arms and legs bring the hands and feet in and out of view. This provides her with opportunities to practice looking, reaching and grasping. It doesn't take long before she can accurately reach a target, grasp, handle and mouth the object in a smoothly coordinated sequence. She is counting on you to supply all kinds of interesting objects to explore.

In the course of handling objects, the baby is taking in a lot of information about her world. She learns that arms and hands must be held in different ways, depending on the shape, size, weight, location, hardness and softness of the object being handled. By 6-9 months she is beginning to understand that by changing the movements of her fingers she can change the qualities of an article. Tearing, pulling, pushing, poking, crumbling, rubbing, sliding, stacking, folding, twisting, pinching, scratching, scraping, all become part of her growing supply of fine motor skills.

As these skills become more refined, baby's interest moves from the way things look and feel to "how do they work"? Toys that have many parts, especially moving parts are particularly fascinating in the latter half of the first year. Such toys encourage the baby to hold onto two or more things at once, to compare pieces, to bang them together, to try to fit one piece inside another. Dropping and throwing things to the floor provides a special lesson in "how things work"; not only do they move in different ways but they also make different sounds when they land - sometimes you end up with more pieces than you started with!

It is in the "how do things work?" stage that the ability

Quilting and carpentry are in full swing and we are told that we are working on the 4th quilt cover, the first being all ready to go on the frames. These covers are not a crazy pattern which is extremely complicated but are made of uniform rectangular pieces. The carpenters were busy on the magazine racks, some of which were raffled at the dance at West Guilford on Saturday, a red letter event starting a public request to help fund a wheel chair van for the conveyance of those who are unfortunate enough to require wheel chairs.

June Devolin conducted bible study Tuesday morning continuing the Easter story and this time dealt with the resurrection of Jesus from his tomb of masonry, giving rise to much skepticism. If you believe then you are a Christian and will inherit life eternal. If you do not believe, then you are an outcast. That is the reason for June's concern for us and makes every effort she can to rectify it.

We have managed to relocate two of those patio flower planters to blend and balance with the awnings. It was steady work depending on the heft of the shovel used but very gratifying. Work is healthy. Summer will reveal the plans we are making now for gorgeous displays of flowers, nor did it cause us to forego the Tuesday afternoon bingo. Sisters Betty Wise and Helen Archer were the volunteer helpers, Cheryl Athoe and Pat Burk overall supervisors, Ray Smith and Allan Macklin alternating in calling.

The word "distance" takes on a greater meaning as the modern human race is running its course. Light travels at 186,000 miles a second and it takes eight minutes for the sunlight to reach earth. Our solar system with its dominant sun is only one of millions of suns in our galaxy, which includes the "milky way", and for light to travel from one side of the galaxy it takes a thousand years. Until recently the farthest earth's telescopes could reach out was 10 billion light years, now it seems a later telescope since has discovered a light smudge out there that is itself a galaxy containing billions of suns situated 12 billion light years from us. What we have stated here is elementary but even so poses a question. Is our universe finite? Strange how often we can take an ordinary word and expand it into magnificence.

Since the space shuttle Columbia safely left earth's atmosphere and made some trail runs in orbit many exciting claims are made as to the new possibilities of space travel. However, 1. It is extremely cold; 2. If you are in true orbit you are weightless, if not you are falling to earth; 3. You must be placed under substantial pressure, your body the normal pressure, and others. What a way to live and we certainly do not envy those shuttle astronauts. It will be a long time before shuttle travel will be practical excepting for brief excursions. However notwithstanding there will be much speculation about it for a very long time.

All of the planters are in the preferred position to give the extencicare landscape an attractive look. It did not take long, two hours each of those moved. This year we are planning climbing trellises for climbing plants and at present our choice are the morning glories which pro-

Bay of Quinte holds annual meeting

"Do You Dare to be Aware" was the theme of the 19th annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte U.C.W. held in Mark Street United Church, Peterborough, on April 7 and 8, 1981. Mrs. Ann Elson of Picton presided over the meeting which opened with a worship led by Renfrew Presbyterian.

Rev. Manley Sadler of the Bath Charge, Social Issues Convener of the Bay of Quinte Conference and Chairman of Bridge House Project, Kingston Presbyterian introduced two offenders. They told their stories and how they had initiated Bridge House, a place where the wives and sweethearts of prisoners can stay and receive moral support while visiting in Kingston.

Tony McGilvary, founder of Help, a community based job placement program for ex-offenders, and his associate, Tony Shaw, told of their work in finding employment for over 200 persons in a year.

The assembly then divided into small groups for bible study and discussion.

Tuesday evening, Tanglefoot, a folk singing group from Peterborough entertained the group briefly.

Be Aware of the Issues was the evening program. Each Presbyterian presented a concern, lotteries, drugs and alcohol, the single and the singled, women in employment, human rights (racism), TV advertising, justice and correction. This day was brought to a close by a vesper service led by Peterborough Presbyterian.

Rev. M. Sadler in his morning presentation on the second day, spoke of the alternatives to prison being necessary. "One of the greatest deterrents to crime is being part of a caring community and we must be that community," he said. Anne Marie Cullen, a volunteer probation officer, shared her experience, Marilyn Huels, a part-time co-ordinator at the Peterborough

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

Here we are with the month of April over. To most of us it hasn't been too bad a month, but after last Sunday, I'm sure the people of England wonder what happened. Imagine a snow storm that bad at the end of April!

The type of weather we've had makes everyone get itchy fingers to start their gardens, but for some of us the grounds need to dry up a bit more yet before we plant our flowers and vegetables, so I guess the only thing we can do at present is get outside on nice days and get the ground as ready as we can. By the looks of the grass, the lawn mowers will soon be doing their job. We battle the weeds so they won't choke it; we fertilize and then we soak it; persistently we strive to grow it -- then gripe because we have to mow it. That's me for sure!

Birthdays at Hyland Crest Home for the month of May are - Mildred Wood - 10th; Ida Schell - 10th; Marjorie Kanally - 11th; Victor Spenceley - 20th; Mary Grozelle - 23rd and Della Curry - 28th. Remember everyone likes to receive a birthday card.

The Sunrise Srs. at the apartments recently held an afternoon tea and presented a plaque to Marg Robinson who is moving to Baysville.

It isn't the load that breaks us down; it's the way we carry it.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dawkins of Rexdale visited with Mrs. Ben Harrison on Saturday.

Winner of the 2nd Chance Draw at Mae's Country Mart last week was Lorne Bull. These draws will continue at Mae's until the holiday weekend in May.

Misses Gaye Coneybeare and Eleanor Madill are vacationing in Acapulco for several weeks.

The Library-Culture group will be meeting at the library at 8 p.m. Monday, May 4.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lloyd Johnson celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary on the weekend, at the Inn on the Park. Their family joined together to make this memorable occasion possible.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society plan on organizing a youth group so if any of you have children who are interested, bring them to the meeting on May 5 at the municipal building starting at 8 p.m. Mrs. Pat Campbell of the Garden Centre will be the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson and Bradley recently attended the 45th wedding anniversary party held for Mr. and Mrs. Ern Voicoy at Beaverton.

The Boy Scouts spent the weekend planting trees at the H. Lloyd Johnson farm.

"Busy Day Kam Casserole" - 1 can Kam cut in 1/2" cubes; 2 small onion finely chopped; 2 tsp. margarine; 1 can cream of mushroom soup; 1 can peas; 2 cups crushed potato chips. Melt margarine in fry pan, brown onion and kam cubes lightly, pour in soup and peas. Heat and stir occasionally. Place layer of crushed potato chips in bottom of one quart casserole. Pour in 1/2 of Kam mixture. Sprinkle on another layer of chips. Pour in remaining Kam mixture. Top with potato chips. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 - 25 minutes. Serve hot, makes 5-6 servings.

How many birthday parties can one person have? Ask Mr. Ed Luke and he will tell you lots. On Saturday, April 18 his daughter Donna and her husband Keith Purdy of Kushog Lake treated him to a baked ham dinner. On Sunday, son Rob and three daughters brought him a birthday cake with sparkles and lots of love and kisses from the grandchildren. On Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Luke were called to Oshawa where his sister and her husband Mr. and Mrs. E. Pipher of Whitby gave him a turkey dinner. On Tuesday, his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. Longergan treated him to a roast beef dinner with Yorkshire pudding. No wonder Mrs. Luke rushed him home to Minden so he could start bowling again to get those calories off. Cont'd. page 11

Greetings from the Avenue! The annual banquet of the Kinmount fair board was held at the community centre in town on Friday evening with approximately 100 to 105 in attendance. The roast beef dinner was catered by St. James A.C.W. and seemed to be enjoyed by all. Following speeches and visiting everyone stayed on for an evening of dancing with music by MRR. Thanks to all the ladies and gents who pitched in to help in any way with getting the hall and dinner prepared and a big thank you to all the new ladies who came out and helped serve: Vickie and Dianne Swinson and "Willie" Scott, who is a new neighbour of Laura Gaunt at Head Lake. We hope you have many happy years here, Willie.

Congratulations to Irene and Dave McNamara who became great grandparents of a boy on Friday, April 23. This makes three great grandchildren now.

Thanks to all who have been asking after mom; phoning and sending her cards. She's still not well but getting there.

The final game of euchre at Galway Hall last Wednesday saw Em Harper with men's high, John Hickey with men's low. Ladies' high went to Jo Davidson and ladies' low: Loreen Swinson. Most lone hands: Bob Allen. The ladies' high overall for the year went to Ida Young and the same distinction for the men belongs to Harry Stuart. Congratulations!

The horticultural meeting of the executive was held at the home of president, Mary Hartin, RRI, Kinmount, Wednesday, April 22 and plans were being made in how to make our town more beautiful. More on that later. Betty Scott and Maizie Brohm are both home from hospital now and coming along nicely although I hear Maizie must go in again for further surgery.

There is a $5 reward being offered for the return of Ken Stuart's Jackalope. If you have any information re this matter, please call 488-2630.

The Norland Firefighters' hockey pool was won by their fire chief, Jim Boyce, last Saturday, April 18.

The zone euchre was held in Lindsay, Saturday, April 18, with 18 teams participating and the "tops" came home: Albert Crego, Richard Crego, Reg Swinson and Jim Swinson. Way to go boys!

Charlie Cameron dropped in for a visit with Mary L. Pyke in Norland, Monday, April 20.

John Pyke of Norland is under the weather these days. Hope to hear you're feeling better soon, Jack. I had the distinct pleasure of a short visit with one, Maggie Longworth, in our town recently. I've been invited to come back for a look at their handicraft and I'll be doing just that very soon. They do (Maggie and Steve) Cont'd. page 10

Intended for last week -
"When you get to the end of your rope, tie a knot in it and hang on."

The Lions bingo is still going on every Monday night at the community centre, starting at 8 p.m. There's money to be won and fun to be had so why not come out and try your luck.

The Dorset Senior Club would like to welcome the new members that have joined during the last few months. There was a fine turn-out at the meeting last week and everyone had an enjoyable time. Although the main floor has been finished for some time there was some finishing to be done in the basement and that is coming along nicely. The men of the group who spend so much time and effort on this work are to be commended. On Wednesday, there was shuffleboard and ping pong, and a few who brought their hand work and visited while knitting or crocheting. Lunch and coffee were served by the hostess for the day. The ladies each take a turn at supplying a meal each week.

Helen (nee Barry) and John Gleen of Niagara Falls were in the village for a week visiting relatives.

The Silver Birch area of the Girl Guide movement held their annual convention last weekend at the Hidden Valley resort. There were over 200 Guide leaders there who experienced training sessions during the weekend. There was also a contest between the Guiding groups of the Blue Lakes division and their leaders. The Dorset Guides won the certificate. They had sewn uniforms and dressed dolls to represent different countries and guiding around the world. The guest speaker was Maureen McTier, wife of leader of the opposition, Joe Clark.

Congratulations and best wishes to Dot and Art Lock who celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary on April 19.

Best wishes for the future are extended to Harry Clayton who has been a patient in Toronto General Hospital for a couple of weeks.

April birthday wishes are in order; to Jeanette Large who celebrated on the 9th, and to Todd Brooks who entertained his friends at a party on the 18th, to Ernie Clayton who began a new year on the 21st, and a special wish to Len Avery of Niagara Falls who will turn 90 on the 24th.

Irondale News

April showers bring May flowers, the old rhyme states and April has given us cool rain as well as windy weather. We hope it encourages good root growth. Perhaps a bountiful harvest will result.

With Easter over, we Christians are again made joyful by the words "He lives". Christ is not dead but lives forever. What a time of triumph!

April has brought back some of our residents from far away places. How good it is to see lights in their homes again at dusk. Welcome back Steve and Blanche Hancock from Florida and Bea and Jack Eakins from the Barbados. We understand both parties enjoyed the change from winter weather.

Pearl and Brenda Simmons travelled to Arnprior and into Quebec for a short holiday while Brenda was home. They brought back tapes of music that will provide good listening. These were recorded by a gifted relative.

Dave, Nancy, Jessica and Devan Woodall enjoyed Easter with Dave's mother in Ajax. The Woodall family will be leaving our area soon as Dave now has work in the Ajax area. We are sorry to lose such good neighbours but wish them luck in their new home.

We welcome Sylvia Garlick's mother to Irondale and hope she will enjoy living in our community. Sylvia has done a lot of renovating to make her mother's apartment comfortable and we wish them a very happy time together.

Cara and Gordon Kennedy enjoyed a visit from a daughter and family for Easter. It was a time to recall other joyous holidays.

The Howarth's spent Easter with their family in Vaughan.

The gardens there were out in full bloom. It was also delightful to see the hyacinths, marsh marigolds, and violets in bloom.

April has been a busy month for Irondale residents as many visitors have taken advantage of the weather to enjoy a visit before the black flies come out. To name some, Edward Copeland and family, the MacDonalds, Mrs. Gladys Rumble, Mrs. M.H. Fice, Miss Dorothy Fice, Miss Isabel Ironside, Mr. and Mrs. L. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bucknam, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fecht and family and the McKee's. Good to see you all again!

We hear Grace Simmons is still recuperating. Take it easy Grace. Geo. Simmons has also just returned from hospital where he underwent surgery. We wish both Grace and George a speedy recovery.

After the Easter service five plants were distributed to sick and shut-ins. We trust they gave encouragement to those who received them as they were sent in Christian love.

Four ladies from Irondale attended the sing song held in the Kinmount United Church. The evening was most enjoyable and if repeated will be much appreciated.

A canvasser all should welcome is Steve Connors who is collecting for the cancer campaign. Remember every gift will help; none is too small when it is given with hope and love. Think of Terry Fox. How much has he given? We, too, can give.

Birthday greetings go out to several of our people here in Irondale. Those who celebrated in April were Adam Simmons, Richard Simmons, Cora Kennedy, Brenda Simmons, and Harold Howarth. Parties were the order of each day and all were enthusiastically enjoyed.

Our men have been working to finish the parish hall in readiness for the big day, on May 16. That Saturday, we will be holding a sale from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Included will be bazaar items, (one special item, tatted bookmarks by L. Rumble who won first prize for tatted at the C.N.E. in 1979.), baked goods, potted plants, hangers and stands, bird houses, oil paintings by Harold Howarth, furniture, 'white elephants', rummage and lunch. The latter will consist of sandwiches, small cakes, tea or coffee and milk for the children. Come and bring your purses. It will be a chance to see our new hall and buy some very lovely things.

Now the nice weather is coming our people are getting back to seasonal work. Tree planting, road work, camps and restaurants are all offering jobs, as John Burnes says 'It's a darn good day when a man can put on his shoes and go to work.'

Tom and Sylvia Bowins are home after a visit to the western provinces. They had a visit with Cathy and Lawrence Frances and little Jennifer Bowins, Tom's granddaughter in Calgary, Alberta. They visited Sylvia's aunt, Mrs. Anders in Banff, Alberta, then on to Creston, B.C. to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. Elliott and to visit her brother, Mr. R. Elliott in Squamish, B.C., spending a total of seventeen days visiting.

Mrs. Edna Venning enjoyed a visit from Mr. Bill St. John, West Hill and his sister, Mrs. Mathewson, West Hill, also the Doug Taylors of Norland visited Mrs. Venning last week.

The Harry Basinger's of Malton spent the weekend at their home here and visited Mary Linnick.

Mr. Art Liscombe died very suddenly on Good Friday. He had been a very active person and his sudden death came as a shock. Sincere sympathy to the many relatives who live here. Art was laid to rest in Pine Grove Cemetery, Norland.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cragg visited her aunt and uncle at Bracebridge on Friday, April 24. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sowman are celebrating their 60th anniversary, and Dorothy Cragg is a niece. Her mother and Mr. Sowman were brother and sister. Although the Sowman's aren't very likely to read this item, we do wish them all the best. How many couple reach the 5th wedding anniversary in this day and age?

Here is a different desert for your file. 'Sour Cream Raisin Pie': 2 eggs, 1 cup thick sour cream; 1 cup raisins, chopped; 1/4 tsp. nutmeg; 1/8 tsp. salt; 1 tbsp. lemon juice; 1 unbaked pastry shell.

Beat eggs, add sugar, beat until light. Whip sour cream and fold into egg mixture, add raisins, nutmeg, salt, lemon juice. Mix well, pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees then reduce heat to 350 and bake for another 20 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Callan and boys of Little Britain spent Easter with the Bob Callan's and Norm Harris families.

Mrs. Myrtle Faulkner and I motored to Stroud late Thursday afternoon so I would babysit for a few hours. We drove the short distance 1/4 mile to the Lake Simcoe shoreline, then drove slowly around Sandy Cove Acres, a big settlement of mobile homes. The setting is beautiful and the homes not your usual style. I can understand why those retiring would love the Sandy Cove setting. It's just a short distance into Barrie and Stroud and Painswick are nearby. Following our little tour, we drove to the

The Glamorgan Public Library had an exchange of 200 books recently. The new selection includes history, geography, science, biography as well as some excellent new fiction. Those interested in cooking should see a very good new book on soups. Our librarian and her assistants are very helpful when you are choosing a book or will order a book you may desire. Come in and browse around. I am sure there is something for every taste.

Mrs. Lenore Rose has returned after a three-month visit with her son and his family in Phoenix, Arizona.

A family dinner of four generations was enjoyed on Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Alsop. Visiting them were their daughter, Adeline Hunter, their granddaughter, Marlene Hunter and their great grandchildren, Trevor, Tracy and Tara Mollon.

Mrs. Lulu Dovel and Mr. Bert Mintz have returned from hospital to their homes. We are glad to report they are improved in health.

A pair of loons have been seen and heard on Pine Lake. The frogs were in full chorus March 30, although they have been silent some nights since. Five large flocks of geese flew north this week. So summer must be just around the corner.

The new community centre seems to be progressing rapidly with work now being done in the interior. Dennis Deblor just completed drilling a well, only having to go a little over 100 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bell spent the weekend at Dundas, visiting Mrs. Bell's sister, Helen Chapman.

Roger and Ricky Billings are employed with Bott Construction at Barrie.

On Saturday afternoon at the Pentecostal church, a pretty wedding was solemnized when Cindy Manley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Manley, became the bride of Eric Billings, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Billings. Rev. Sauve officiated. Bridal attendants included: Loretta Billings as matron of honour, Cammie Hillis, Cathy Merritt and Marilyn Riel as bridesmaids and Jack Billings as his brother's best man. Allison Billings acted as flower girl while the bride's young brother, Jamie, was ring bearer. Ushers were Gordon Manley, Kevin Merritt and Eddie Dewey. Music was provided by Julie Hunter, who also sang a solo "My Love", accompanied by Rev. Sauve. The reception was held at the Old Red Barn in Bancroft.

Congratulations and best wishes for future happiness are extended to the happy couple. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Madill of Clinton were guests at the Billings-Manley wedding on Saturday. Mrs. Violet Billings returned to her home with them after a month's visit with them in Clinton.

All these activities provide her opportunities for using her fine motor skills and understanding events in the world.

Now brothers, about times and dates we do not need to write to you, for you know very well the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night. Farm News and Views Cost-conscious farmers are turning more and more to Ontario's crop insurance program. Since its inception in 1966, the enrollment of insured farmers has soared from 700 in the first season, to more than 18,000 in 1980. Participants in the Crop Insurance plan during 1980 insured 28,000 crops, with a total liability of $390,000,000.

Crop Insurance is looking forward to another year of substantial growth, since Ontario farmers are faced with escalating production costs and extremely high interest rates. These factors make farming a very risky business requiring large outlays of cash to grow a crop, with the possibility of minimal returns if the weather does not cooperate, or if the markets turn sour.

Farmers can forward contract, hedge, or participate in Ontario's Stabilization program to guarantee a good return from the market-place, but they cannot control the weather, disease or insect infestations. However, a farmer can purchase Crop Insurance to protect himself against these perils.

The Crop Insurance Commission of Ontario covers losses resulting from any of the following: drought, hail, wind, frost and excessive rain, as well as insect infestation and disease. In essence, the Ontario Crop Insurance Plan is a multi-peril plan which is available to farmers at approximately one-third of the true cost.

The cost is reduced to participants since the federal government pays 50 per cent of the premium and the provincial government pays all of the administrative costs.

Crop Insurance gives a farmer a production guarantee for his crop and also covers him if he has to re-seed. If weather conditions prevent a farmer from planting, he is paid a preplant claim on any acres not planted.

Farmers also use Crop Insurance as security at the banks, and as a tool to minimize risk when forward contracting crops prior to harvest.

The Ontario Crop Insurance Plan provides farmers with insurance tailored to the individual farm and farmer. In other words, each farmer is given an average farm yield which reflects the ability of the farm and the farmer to produce the crop being offered for insurance.

The final date for application for the majority of the crop plans is May 1 in the crop year.

Don Shier of R.R. #1, Cannington, is the Crop Insurance agent for Mariposa and Eldon Townships. Bob Reeds of Reaboro is the agent for the remainder of Victoria County and for Haliburton County.

Junior Agriculturalist Program, 1981

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food is again sponsoring the Junior Agriculturalist Program for 1981.

The program is set up to provide practical farm experience for young people from non-farm homes who have a serious interest in agriculture.

Host farmers are required to provide this experience.

The Junior Agriculturalist will be 16 or 17 years of age. He or she will be under the supervision of the host farmer. He or she will be expected to remain on the assigned farm from June 22 to August 22.

The host farmer will provide room and board plus $6.00 per day.

Host farmers are to be engaged in farming full time. Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Insurance will be the responsibility of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Junior Agriculturalists are assigned to host farms.

Anyone interested in hosting a Junior Agriculturalist should contact the Lindsay Agricultural Office as soon as possible. Application forms and further information is available.

Wilberforce News

Many people took advantage of the rummage sale that was held in the basement of St. Margaret's church last weekend. Thanks to the generosity of local people a surprising number of bags and boxes arrived from various households and members of the ACW were able to present good quality garments, some almost new. There is a great deal of work attached to a successful sale. Articles must be sorted and priced, then arranged on tables and racks. Many garments are taken home by the ladies to be freshened up or pressed. There are great bargains to be found for the careful shopper.

Here is a note from the Kinsmen who invite everyone to come and join the South Algonquin Kinsmen's annual Kintoria Day, May 16, 1981. The day will include an auction by licensed auctioneer Ron Forbes of North Bay. There will be a bake sale and a flea market. A licensed dance in the evening will finish the day. The Kinsmen would appreciate any items that could be donated toward their auction. So if you are cleaning out your basement, attic or garage call to arrange for a pick-up, in these areas: Gooderham - Ron Barr 447-2039, Tory Hill - Ken Noble 448-2833, Wilberforce Larry Street 448-2721, Harcourt - MacGadway 448-2268, Highland Grove - Blaine Lewis 448-2797.

The home of Clarence Rowbottom was destroyed by fire last week. The house was situated on the Clement Lake Road. Firemen were called to the blaze but on their arrival found the fire in an advanced state and the place was gutted. Clarence had to be called from Martin's Mill where he is employed.

Mrs. Charlie Bowen is said to be a patient in a Peterborough hospital. Mrs. Bowen is a long-time Wilberforce resident who has been living in Extensicare in Haliburton for a few years. All her friends send best wishes for a good recovery in the near future.

You won't want to miss the special evening that is coming to the Memorial Centre on May 28. This is a centennial feature and is being presented by Bill Gliddon and the Wilberforce elementary school children from Kindergarten to Grade 4. It promises to be a delightful evening of entertainment. On hand to serve refreshments will be members of the Girl Guides and Brownies. Looks as though the Brownies will be especially busy if they are also taking part in the program.

Our sympathy to Larry Watt and his family on his father's death on Thursday, April 9. We were all sorry to hear this sad news.

One of our staff, Miriam Lewis, was on holidays from April 6 to April 10. On Friday, April 10 Bob Nimigon went on holidays to Vancouver with his parents.

The last few weeks I have been washing cars. I washed Miriam Lewis's and Robert McLagan's cars and Sue Little's truck.

On Tuesday, April 14 we had a birthday party for Murray. It was a very nice day and everyone had a very good time.

Last Wednesday, I went down to the gallery to help clean up garbage along with Larry, Stan and Robert.

On Thursday we had an Easter Party and then we had a four-day weekend.

We helped the staff move their office this week.

Norland may have recreation centre

Mrs. Jean Boyce, spokeswoman for the special committee to study the feasibility of building a quonset-type recreation building housing an ice rink and badminton courts in Ward Park reported to the Norland Ladies Auxiliary on Tuesday evening, April 21. There has been a consensus that this is a project everyone supports and that Laxton council should speak for all the organizations within the community in negotiating grants and handling money, she noted.

Further, Mrs. Boyce reported the group is within $10,000 of having raised all the money necessary for the community's share of the cost.

The Norland Ladies Auxiliary of the Norland Volunteer Firefighters Association immediately began discussing ways and means of raising money.

There will be a dance on June 13 in the Norland Community Hall. The ladies are catering the road superintendents' banquet and the Bayfield shopping mall and took in the sights, returning home about 11:30 p.m.

Crafters and enthusiasts are getting in gear for the Spring Festival of the Arts. As usual, there is something for everyone.

Mrs. Hilda Chynoweth and daughter, also Hilda's sister, Mrs. Boyce of Norland have been visited Hilda's son, Jack Chynoweth and family in Belgium for the past two weeks. I'm sure they will have many stories to tell of their trip and the far away country of Belgium.

The Everett Cameron and Ken Bowins families are home after a holiday at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Mrs. A. Marles and Mrs. M. Faulkner visited their cousin, Mrs. Alma Hunt at Fenelon Falls last Sunday, on the occasion of Alma's 92nd birthday.

Shelly Gibson had a big disappointment last weekend. She had planned a holiday in Holland with her God-mother and unfortunately was involved in a motor accident on the weekend. Luckily she was not seriously hurt, but she just was not up to a holiday. Take care Shelly, and hopefully, you can go in a few months' time.

Have you noticed the two new 17 cents stamps issued April 24. One is in honour of Kateri Tekakwitha and one for Mere Marie de l'Incarnation, two personalities from the 17th century Canada. Stamps are one way a hero or famous person is honoured, but are only issued after the person is dead. Why can't the powers that be issue a Terry Fox stamp so our hero can enjoy the glory now, while he fights his battle with cancer.

What's Your Category? The bull bellows the loudest; The cow gives the milk; The butterfly is beautiful; The worm spins the silk; By the contents, (not the keg) The rooster does the crowing; It's the hen that lays the egg! The Wee Boutique is again open with all sorts of spring wear. The shopping is unhurried and a relaxing way to look for that new dress, slacks or blouse. When you go into town you line up to check out or be waited on and some how our own little country stores become very attractive. It really does pay to shop at home! Who wants an ulcer from all the hazards of city or town shopping? I hope you haven't slept in and are fully adjusted to daylight saving time!

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS REGARDING FLUORIDE SUPPLEMENTS

Fluoridation of the water supply reduces tooth decay by 66 per cent. However, in our Health Unit area, no municipal water supplies are fluoridated.

If children up to 14 years of age take daily fluoride supplements (tablets or drops), benefits equivalent to fluoridation can still be obtained.

(These benefits are in addition to those received from fluoride toothpastes, treatments and mouth-rinsing programs.)

To ensure your child is receiving the correct dosage, contact your physician, dentist, or Health Unit Dental Services for a prescription for fluoride supplements.

Families with private wells should first obtain a free water test kit (for fluoride) from your local Health Unit office. Many wells in our area contain adequate natural fluoride.

1 Thessalonians, 4:13 - 17. We know you are only gone to be with our Lord. We read this in your holy word. Just as Jesus rose again we will one day meet and then, with Jesus triumphant we'll stand and rejoice evermore as He takes our hand. We look forward, Dad, to that glorious day, when Christ will descend and take us away! 32-P-2

It is very interesting that the Liberal party that is in power in Ottawa seems to think that Canadians are share holders in Petro-Canada. They cannot seem to remember that when the Conservatives promised to mail shares in Petro-Canada they were defeated and did not get around to mailing them, so Canadians have no shares in Petro-Canada even if the Liberals say they have. We are really surprised that the Liberals are so ill-informed. A Canadian can buy shares in a Canadian Crown Corporation by buying shares in Canada Development Corporation but they will cost you money. We understand that the Canada Development Corporation is paying fair dividends.

Lieut. Ron Mailman of the Salvation Army in Haliburton, his officer wife Linda and officer Amelia Sibley conducted the Friday morning devotional period, with guitar accompaniment to the singing. Striking were the words of the angel who sat on the stone that had been rolled away and who said the four most pertinent words in Christendom, 'Come' and 'see' 'Go' and 'tell' the world. The Easter story we observe is only the start. We enjoyed these Salvation Army officers in an after-service snack of tea or coffee and a carrot loaf.

A single long movie was shown in the afternoon. Welcome to Smith Falls that gave us a chance to see democracy in action. This film proves beyond doubt that the only democracy Canada possesses is at the municipal level.
The wheel chair van dance was a great success and unfortunately some people we are told had to be denied admission. It was noisy, lively and hilarious. The music was furnished by the Dew Berry Winers having three guitars (one bass) and the traps, exceptionally melodious. We residents left early to allow more admissions.

Folk Art and Wood Carving In the Gallery
The Folk Art and Wood-carving show presently at the Ralls' End Gallery ends Saturday, May 2. During this exhibition the Haliburton Highlands and visitors to the area had a rare chance to observe and learn more of a craft which has merged into art, and on the way became of top importance to collectors.
Saturday, April 18, John Seton Tompkins, the 82 year old artist of the major part of the show, with his wife Rhoda, were guests at an Easter tea in his honour. It was the first time Seton had seen his work collected together in a gallery, and a gallery where it was displayed in a setting appropriate to its strong lines and rustic theme.
During the week Dr. Ralph Price of Port Perry, who loaned the collection, gave a slide presentation with an interesting and informative talk on folk art.

"Folk art," said Dr. Price, "is the work of ordinary folk with no formal training but who have the strong urge to create. Objects fashioned for daily use are embellished or ornamented beyond the needs of the basic design." His talk, which was given too informally to be called a lecture, urged people to look at everyday articles with a new appreciation.
The following Saturday two carvers demonstrated in the gallery, Alex Hogg and John Ottowell, both from Warkworth. Ottowell, who comes from England, for years has been involved in many aspects of model making, both professionally and for pleasure. Recently he concentrates on producing authentic antique and museum reproductions of old Ontario furniture; these are for the most part snapped up by collectors from the United States.
"I am not an artist," declares Ottowell, "only a co-ypist".
We take issue: he is an artist. Reducing a wooden object to a fraction of its original size without making the grain of the wood look unnaturally coarse reveals the kind of feeling and understanding of his material which we do not hesitate to call art. So fine is his work he must use magnifying glasses for the details. The interiors of the tiny cupboards are as meticulously finished as the outside. The finely-turned posts of the cannon ball and four poster beds are a marvel of precision. His work is perfection.

bowling banquet in April. There will be a large smorgasbord in July in the community hall, a car wash in August in Ward Park and a dance in September.
Other projects still in the planning stage are a $500 prize raffle and a wine and cheese party.
There will be bingo as usual every Monday evening in the Community Hall on Highway 35 during July and August. At present there is a euchre party every Thursday evening at 7:30 in the same place.
Since this was the annual meeting, the Norland Ladies Auxiliary then elected a new slate of officers: president, Mrs. Phyllis LeCraw; vice-president, Mrs. Pam Brohm; treasurer, Miss Laura Gaunt; secretary, Mrs. Fay Brown.
